

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A computer game combined progressive language learning system and method is disclosed. During playing process in playing mode, the system can activate corresponding 5 learning process in learning mode through active or passive triggered events. Accordingly, the system combines playing and learning completely by the triggered events, and can adjust playing and learning modes progressively according to learning records and evaluation results. Thus users can get fully learning during playing.